

MONEY TRAFFIC, NOT CAPITALISM MUST GO: — Walter B. Pitkin

Real Reasons For Financial Debacle Shown

Wall Street Pump Battle Against New Books—Court Blast Heard From Money Cops—War Declared

PROFITS ARE 400 PER CENT.

NEW YORK, April 1.—"It was the money traffickers, and not the manufacturers who wrecked our capitalistic system during and after the war crash."

"I wish every financier, every salesman of honest goods and every shopkeeper could understand this; for it has been systematically obscured by bankers and promoters, many of whom are now full of stories into books and periodicals, washing their knavish ways. Unless we watch them closely, they will be winning over voters to the theory that the success of capitalism depends upon our protecting money traffic."

In this stinging barrage, Walter B. Pitkin, comes to the public eye and unveils the hot counter-force of Wall Street with his latest book, "CAPITALISM—THE TRUTH," published by the McHill Book Co., New York.

The counter-blast from the money traffickers has been swift and strenuous. Pitkin has declared war on Pitkin.

But Pitkin's book has caused a sensation, and has achieved a tremendous success.

Pitkin makes it clear that he has no objection to Capitalism, which he says will win out whether under Communism or Liberalism.

But he says that the money traffic has got to go, and that money must take its place with men and machines, and be as they are paid, with some of their productive and distributive capacity.

He takes a slap at the demagogues who have less wisdom than the money traffickers.

Money Traffic Clean Up $1,500,000,000

Pitkin makes the amazing statement that "during the last 10 years the money traffic has cleaned up almost $1,500,000,000 in profits, more than have the 300,000 other corporations engaged in producing, distributing and other activities."

"In the seven years 1923 to 1929 inclusive, promoters, money jugglers and gamblers combined increased their profits by 75 per cent. They rose from $1,172,000,000 to $4,084,000,000."

"In addition to this, 10,000 trusts, holding companies, and similar enterprises cleaned up $2,438,000,000 in the boom year of 1929."

"In the same year, the 300,000 other corporations made only $5,445,000,000—or about 1,500,000,000 less than the non-productive, anti-consumers of Wall Street and its related underworks."

Added No Wealth To Country

That is Pitkin's statistic evidence to support his resounding sarcasm at the "false explanation" that the "whole country" had been on an economic spree. And he follows it up with this:

"Remember please. The money traffickers did not add a single dime of ultimate value to the country. They merely took advantage of the ups and downs in current prices of stocks, bonds and money. They were skimming off profits that did not represent the slightest service rendered to consumers or anyone."

"A man who assures you that money traffic serves anybody except the exploiters is a liar—and probably is a crook. Write his name down a little book. The police may want it some day."

"Money traffickers steal Henry Ford's old idea that high wages make prosperity, by so."

"Very simple! Our civilization happens to be founded on Men, Machines and Money. The more rewards go to men or machines, the less there will be for money. Men are going to get more and more of the total rewards. If they do not get it through reason, they will get it by force."

"It is possible to establish equity of high order without money. It is impossible to do so without machines."

"Show money traffickers understand that greater abundance for the masses means scarcity for the classes—above all, their own tiny class, multimillionaires."

Spreading of Money Works Out Same

"At any hour of day or night the spreading of $100 over three groups works out the same:

"Give $15 to men and $25 to machines; that leaves $50 for money."

"Give $30 to men and $30 to machines; that leaves $40 for money."

"Give $40 to men and $40 to machines; that leaves $20 for money."

"Give $50 to men and $50 to machines; that leaves $0 for money."

"Had manufacturers been able to transfer all the profits of money traffic and pure gambling in 1929 to men and machines, then wages and salaries and consumption goods profits in that year would have been $7.2 billions larger than they were in fact. Think of the business that would have been done by men and machines, by mill and mine!"

"Unfortunately many manufacturers who are clear thinkers do not happen to be free men. Bankers and promoters have set them up in business; or else have come to their rescue and seized control of their business."

"Thousands of small manufacturers are free from this dominance of Wall Street. But, many cannot think clearly. They do not analyze their own business well enough to discover their utter dependence on buyers, hence upon workers."

Zaharoff Looking To Princess

PARIS, April 1.—Monaco (and its colorful twin, Monte Carlo) will get a slice of Sir Basil Zaharoff's millions. It is understood here, only if they consent to keep a crown on the head of Monaco's lovely Princess Charlotte.

A new clause is being studied, it is believed, for insertion in the 10-year-old munition king's will whereby a large sum will be left to Monaco, charities to be distributed by the reigning sovereign of the Grimaldi family. In other words, Monaco will get no share in the fortune of Sir Basil and Princess Charlotte marry.

This is the well authenticated story accepted in circles where it was first learned that serious conversations were proceeding as to the possibility of Sir Basil and Princess Charlotte marrying.

Andy Bahr Back to Civilization After Five-Year Arctic Trek

Bronzed by the biting winds of the sub-polar regions, but smiling happily over the successful conclusion of his difficult job, Andy Bahr, Seattle, Washington, stepped from a Canadian Airways Ltd. biplane at the Edmonton airport at 4:30 p.m. Sunday, to break his homeward journey overnight here after more than five years spent in driving more than 2,000 reindeer from the Western Alaskan coast to the Mackenzie delta.

A stocky little man, not much over five feet three inches tall, Bahr was still dressed in furs and moccasins, when he stepped from the biplane that brought him from Alaska. Not tattered, but from the look of his face, it was evident that he had succeeded in defeating the rigorous Arctic elements, threatened starvation and sickness in a trek lasting over 1200 miles.

CHALLENGES

There has been one compelling reason for Stalin's attitude in this respect, aside from considerations of personal modesty, that was the necessity of bridging the official Bolshevik assertion to the world at large that the Communist Internationale had no connection with the Soviet government. That agency, formed for the avowed purpose of promoting world revolution, has been embarrassed on more than one occasion to leaders of the Bolshevik government.

This was particularly true in earlier years when they were striving for recognition as a world power.

As secretary-general of the All-Russian Communist party—his official title—the leader of the sole political group in the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. Thus, as every Russian knows well, he is the dominating figure of the government by virtue of his leadership of the reigning party.

But besides serving all the government's policies and playing the dominating role in all state decisions, the Russian Communist party also is the largest unit of the Communist Internationale, and up to

Advance Types Declared Peril To All Mankind

By ROBERT SCHUMANN

MOSCOW, April 1.—A new war would catapult such advanced types of airplanes into battle that existing air forces would be outclassed in a few weeks or even a few days, an authoritative British expert told this correspondent today. This he maintained is the reason for Germany's opposition to the proposed "Eastern Locarno" pact.

He also declared that Germany's reported fears of the Soviet Union's forces are groundless.

"The only arm with which a sudden surprise offensive could be based is aviation. The Soviet Union has a well-equipped air force, which would suffice to place a defensive line in putting collective nations into fear of the offensive, that alone would not be enough."

PROTECTIVE ARMS

"We know in fact," he continued, "that all our forces are at present protective arms that would be out of date in a few weeks or even a few days after the outbreak of hostilities."

Proceedings started when T. Partington, vice president of the U.F.A. district, announced that he was resigning from the organization and Mr. McLeod was supported by the delegates. He had become so disillusioned that he was returning from the organization.

"I have worked and worked hard for the U.F.A. for the past five years but I am through now," he declared.

Despite the fact that he had declared on the floor of the legislature that he was "one hundred per cent Social Credit," Mr. McLeod was supported by the delegates. He had become so disillusioned that he was returning from the organization.

NO ALBERTA VOTE BEFORE END OF MAY

Statement of Premier Reid
Contained in Letter to

"It certainly is not the intention of the government to hold an election before the end of May or the early part of June," according to Premier H. G. Reid. General opinion is that the election will be held about the middle of June.

The Premier's statement is contained in a letter forwarded to William Aberhart, of Calgary, in response to a request by him regarding reports that there would be an election in May or June and as to how early an election might be held.

On the subject of the election, the Premier writes as follows:

LIMITATIONS IMPOSED

"The Legislative Assembly Act very definitely imposes limitations as to the time in which an election in this province must be held."

"It certainly is not the intention of the government to hold an election before the end of May or the early part of June. The government has never in the past attempted to bring about an election to the disadvantage of any party or group."

TRAFFIC, NOT CAPITALIST MUST GO: — Walter B. Pitkin

Real Reasons For Financial Debacle Shown

Then Pitkin proceeds with vigor to his analysis of money-changer mentality, and here he gives the six basic features of capitalism which the say American business has neither believed in nor practiced. They are:

- 1—Individual initiative—In picking careers, in organizing business, in developing new ideas and methods.
- 2—Private ownership of Personal effects.
- 3—Means of production—tools, processes, factories.
- 4—Means of distribution—trucks, stores, advertising agencies, salesmen.
- 5—Fair exchange of goods and services.
- 6—Fair competition—For jobs.
- 7—For customers.
- 8—For free capital (investment funds).
- 9—Interest—On accumulated funds in some enterprise.
- 10—On accumulated funds invested in some enterprise.

"Possibly one half of all Americans are capitalists," he says. "But there is how he says banking has violated the principles of capitalism."

- 1—Banking and finance have been selfishly competitive.
 - 2—They have always sought and received special privileges.
 - 3—Money has been a natural monopoly.
- "In every major crisis of American banking, the bankers have been the first to move away from their capitalism toward socialism. . . . They come to the federal government for help, either to make large profits or to protect themselves from losses."

ACCIDENT OF PROFITS

The profit principle of industry Pitkin says "a pure accident of profits and losses has made a mess of things, but we can control it if we make up our minds."

"There is no connection between value to the maker and value to the user. This is a tragic defect in the world which cannot be helped. We have to make the best of it. Let us see how."

"A barrel of potatoes sells for the same price as a pair of cheap shoes. To grow the potatoes, a patch of ground must be plowed, fertilized, cultivated and weeded for four months or longer. The farmer is lucky if he can reap a net profit of 4 per cent."

"To make the stockings, a table-spoonful of waste wood fibre is dumped into a huge machine which converts it into rayon threads. These are in turn woven into a pair of stockings, in a loom at which a girl spends perhaps ten minutes before the task. Two producers here get at least 15 per cent as a rule."

"What if all stockings vanished from this vale of tears? Pretty girls would go about with bare calves—and the rest of us might enjoy life a little more. But what if potatoes and their derivatives were to disappear? There would be no potatoes, no french fries, no french fries, no french fries."

"As a rule there is little profit in the elements, necessities, but much in the luxuries and fads. The money value of all automobiles is now almost double that of all farm tools and implements. Destroy them latter and hardly one great city could survive a season of drought. For a world without automobiles support barely 30 million people."

"The maker of rouge shows higher profits than the best surgeon."

"Hell-fire evangelists, like Billy Sunday, clean up more cash than 10,000 milkmen."

"A fashionable millionaire pays more on his income tax than do 10,000 railroad men."

"Why should this be?"

"Elemental human needs afford a sure and permanent market. Indeed whoever can make things to satisfy these needs is a business where risks are slight. This fact attracts investors who prefer safety to high yield."

KEEN COMPETITION

"Secondly these elemental needs have been catered to for ages; hence the technique of getting raw materials and processing them have been developed for ages and so have become common knowledge."

"Competition is keen, hence profit sink to some minimum."

Two evils then arise:

1—Those who have their capital tied up in low-profit industries must cut every corner; so they force down wages and raw material prices in order to make a small percentage on sales."

2—Investors with pure capital shun these fields and thereby lighten credit there. The ordinary farmer, for instance, has never been able to borrow money at ordinary commercial rates, he has always fallen victim to usury or to the money lender."

"Money has been borrowed from the government. The soft coal industry, much lumbering and most of the textile trades have obtained loans in this fashion."

"Contrast this with the ordinary fields of commerce, patent medicine, motion pictures, radio and tomorrow's television."

"Here you see the prospect of huge profits flowing from raw materials and from money lent to make a new rouge or a new movie star."

"True, the lines here are hazy; but there is the exciting hope of a killing. That attracts the adven-

NEW SOLAR SYSTEM MAY BE FORMED

Star Nova Herculis Had Big Flare-Up Three Months Ago

WASHINGTON, April 1.—A new solar system, with a new "earth" on which life may sometime develop, may have been formed three months ago when the star Nova Herculis flared into great brilliance.

This earth and so on system may have been formed in the same way when the sun suddenly perhaps also "flared up" to great brilliance millions of years ago.

Dr. Gustaf Stromberg of Mount Wilson observatory, Calif., added in an article published by the Carnegie institution the new model unveiled Friday at the Chicago Critics' Club exhibit.

Suits for sports and evening wear emphasize liberal patterns and wide shoulders and waists. Styles embodying the spirit of "careless elegance," impressions pointed out and the night shades "sage" prosperity.

Sports coats, made roomy by deep by-way flares, afford the greatest ease in handling a nibble of holding a stein. They come in eye-catching light blues and lavenders, green, grey, brown and tan—colors which are popular.

Shirts have been seen from the convention color plane and ties inclined to sartorial risk.

Romance By Mail Fails: Aged Doctor Fooled Her

TORONTO, April 1.—Dr. Fred Murphy, said to be known as a Maria Morpher, was remanded to the Psychiatric hospital Friday following a charge of fraudulent seduction by Betty Robinson, 21, of Alton.

Mrs. Robinson, 21, of Alton, heard a long story in police court of the girl coming here allegedly after corresponding with the doctor, and finding he was "not 20 and handsome," so she had loved to believe from a photograph.

The girl said Murphy called on her last Tuesday and she asked for a return ticket to Alton. She said he told her to "hitch hike" and added: "I will kill you." The charge was based on this alleged statement.

"In his letters he told me he was wealthy," said the girl, "that a cottage with chickens and a dog were at my disposal." Miss Robinson said when she arrived in Toronto she was shocked to meet an elderly and poorly dressed man with his arm in a sling.

Murphy claimed the girl told him she was 18 and would have him "settled down." If he did not give her $3,000.

Sweeping Reform in Antiquated Monetary Structure is Needed

Recently Noted Liberal Candidate Bitterly Attacks High Interest Rates At Sunday Meeting

The people are expecting their governments to put a bit in the mouth of the horse of capitalism and to ride it, G. H. Van Allen, K.C., one of the six recently elected Liberal candidates for the forthcoming provincial election contests, told a large gathering attending the regular weekly convention of the Independent Labor party in the New Empire theatre Sunday.

Dr. Walter Morrish and Mrs. Frank J. Conroy, also on the Liberal slate for provincial honors, spoke briefly but, owing to previous engagements, W. C. Howson, K.C., M.L.A.; Jack Marshall and C. Gerald O'Connor were unable to speak as announced.

"It is not fair, nor is it economically sound, that the wages and money should be so far above the buying power," Mr. Van Allen declared as applause broke in a storm from the audience.

65 PER CENT TO BONDHOLDERS

"A stop must be put to the banking house practices which have so aggravated the grave unemployment problem for the past five years. From now on as far as government concerns are concerned the basis of distribution should be on a basis of opportunity to filch the public," the speaker stated, as he stressed the great need for sweeping reform throughout the antiquated monetary structure of the Dominion.

Turning to the question of interest rates, Mr. Van Allen stated that how 45 per cent of all monies collected by federal and provincial governments was paid out as interest on the bonds of the Dominion.

"And most of this money, when the false fall of the God interest rate, which is the basis of the money market, is paid out as interest when what was a dollar a bushel of wheat is now a penny a bushel, and 50 cents a bushel to the farmer, is paid out as interest to the bondholders."

WEST EXPLOITED

Discrimination of the east against the west was charged by Mr. Van Allen, who stated that the Dominion government was draining $200,000,000 annually in drainages from this province to the benefit of exploiters in the east.

"If the west really wants to get what it should in the Dominion, it must not remain a loser in the money game, killing our chances of advancement by the people."

BORN IN EAST

Born in Ebel, Ont. September 15, 1878, Mr. Kellner was 5'4" in height and weighed 175 lbs. His education was received in the Ontario schools, and for some years he was a member of the teaching profession in the province of Ontario.

In 1902 he moved to Edmonton, where he engaged in farming in the Edmonton and Red Deer districts.

Mr. Kellner is survived by his wife and a daughter, Viola, living in Ebel, Ontario. He has two sons, Clarence and Joseph, living in Ebel, Ontario. He has two daughters, Mrs. Robert McGeorge, Great Falls, Minn., and Mrs. J. Lee, Fort William, and Mr. Elmer, Wetaskiwin, and Mrs. Elmer, Vancouver, John Hain, New Westminster, and Mrs. J. Lee, Fort William, and Mr. Elmer, Wetaskiwin.

MORRISH SPEAKS

"If I did not believe the Liberal party will succeed far better than the present government in reaching a solution of the grave problems of unemployment, and that Liberals will tackle the difficult problems that will assure success, I would not be a candidate speaking for them tonight," Dr. Morrish declared.

"The shortage of human lives caused by the wage is piling higher, and the Liberal party, if elected to office would bring every ounce of power to bear on the problem of converting the unemployed into an army of workers again," Dr. Morrish declared.

FISH AND GAME MEETING TONIGHT

Prof. William Rowan will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Fish and Game Protective League to be held at the Cameron Bay Hotel, Monday, April 1, 8 p.m.

Two films, depicting wild life in Alberta national parks will also be shown.

PENSION INJUSTICE

Himself a returned soldier, Dr. Morrish declared that the pension in this city which draws at least $10 a month was pension for a broken finger while many men who were burned out as a result of war service could get no pension at all.

"The basis of taxation must be changed if the people are not to be taxed to death," Dr. Morrish declared.
